

“Housing Discrimination” (with a focus on Single-Family Housing) – Dr. Sharese C. Paylor,
USDA Rural Development Washington DC

Housing Discrimination persists in our society despite efforts to eliminate it over 50 years ago since the enactment of Fair Housing laws made it illegal to refuse to rent or sell a home based on protected classes. Please join me in raising the awareness of Fair Housing practices as we learn more about how the Fair Housing Act applies to Single Family Housing. This training will provide an opportunity to put what you learn to use with the interactive game of “Wheel of Fortune” where you will have 12 puzzles to solve based on the “Housing Discrimination” training. At the end of this training session, participants will gain a better understanding of how Fair Housing Laws affect Single Family Housing programs and empower the participants to join us in eliminating housing discrimination by ensuring equal housing opportunities for all people.
